

Peace Team. Here is the 8-28-25 NY session with MNQ. The “5 min candle open” levels formed, and on 1 minute chart, an FVG closed through the low, and the 3rd candle closed, so I entered a short. The fun (shall we say interesting?) thing about this trade, was the psychology about: “Oh, the trade is $100 in profit, should I close it?” Well, for some of us who are actually consistently profiting from closing the trades when they go into profit, that’s great! For me, I have made a commitment to apply the strategy regardless of if the trade loses (like today). When I finally get the longer term “Probabilistic strategy” figured, it will be voila! :o)

Anyway. I also tried a Lil Smart Money Concepts trade for fun. (at least I thought it was)

It’s really important to have fun while learning. At the same time, I need to apply the same “Devotion” to strategy to other trades as well. So, maybe just the “5 min NY open” and then listen to Team trading for other trades. Cool. Onwards and upwards...peace
