(side note: same old stuff guys, this was a special blessing because of the collaboration,

And no matter how some folks will want to deny the misson....what mission they ask...?

To use the B game to heal the world right? people are starving...the B game is supposed to unify everybody in the end...and then we help save the world right? Is love what remains from everything?...everything works to the good?...obviously, but the other side says it's every man for them self, perpetuated spectacles and consumer placation...so it's either the media powers get along and try to follow through with the peace that the B game HipHop lesson unification

God has offered us, or the Special God Forces monitoring this will reconcile it later...

And how will that be...well, we think they will use everybody's names and parts that they played in the B game progress and use it to teach the world a lesson...or something.....?

...Chaffe from the wheat...that's what's left after we're all back to the earth....anyway ☺

Power to us people...yup, Us...one people...Lights in the storm...much love and peace.
