(Cool guys, so anyway, business as usual. The unsettled "cover the truth up" denial population continues to try to wear on our spirits and steal our moments of peace...but a lot of folks are realizing what they are doing is wrong....mind controlling and using someone who can't hear them as a media topic source...some try to help some don't...there's a difference...is Karma real? Well, we are not here to re-invent the wheel...all we can do is pray for folks and hope they are as comfortable as possible...lots of compassionate people would like to see the chafe from the wheat manifest, which will separate them from the mind crime...most are just there to be together and help folks feel better, including themselves...it's tough living in today's space camera reality....cool guys...slow n easy....much love...peace...)
