

Hey guys....so just a quick update on the goings on Forex wise....Learning wise...

If we don't feel what it's like to learn the trading lesson, how will we correct ourselves when entering a trade to early in the future????
 Hmmmm....well, I think we are learning here...Good God almighty we pray so....ha..ha..ha...then it'll all be fun...☺

So below are pictures of today's market for the NZDUSD chart Daily and 1 hour for an idea of tonight's sentiment, and a look at our USDJPY that is still going...USDJPY was exited too early, considering the timeline of our:

Extreme Significant Trade Strategy (Supply and Demand)

And....what is this 1 hour picture telling us? 😊

The plot thickens...tonight's price action will tell us...

Is the above picture a “M/Top” or going to be a “W” in a larger upward (buy) impulsion...?

Below is our friendly USDJPY which is still goin’ strong...

Good lesson about staying with a trade especially when we were studying the Daily chart for a long term position...😊

Great then....much love...and remember that it's the trade, not the person...never take a lesson personal...transform in peace...we have to detach, because trading can be emotional...all the best...peace...