“Yup, we’ll keep him” ...”Why, because he doesn’t think like that” ...”Yeah, the Gals said he can bring his anointed ass around here anytime”(1love)..”A lot of us don’t leave town much either” ...”we all around..”

“Yeah, teach the kids love not division” “That’s the starting place, but the kids still have to go through some things:...” yeah, but we can give them a good start through gratitude self motivation work ethic, bein’ still where they at and building from there, introduce them to the arts and constructive expression, some martial arts, volunteering at events/places for the needy, and expose them to how blessed they are to have a family and love”...(Build or destroy)

“The story” ...”Yeah, well, it made a man out of him” ...”Well, let him be a man then” ...”Wish him well, let him breathe” ...”Us too”...

“Yeah, and don’t compare him to his famous Brother, everybody has their own experience, and that’s just fine”

“The game? Yeah, there’s something wrong with it, and we’re here to fix it, now that things went the way it did” ...”No, everybody sees what the greed message did to the people” ...”Love, gratitude and self motivations are more important than pissing contests and de-sensitized statics that don't help transformations...we're not looking for just initiations, but initiations with transformational goals, so the young person understands the honor and responsibility of becoming an adult" ...

"Yes, if the children learn love, let's encourage it, and try to teach them the lessons, to avoid the trouble"..."love is a priceless gift to the Planet"
